

Improving the business case for resilience

Dr Emily Wilkinson, ODI Climate and Environment Programme

(Dis)incentives for investing in resilience

Strong normative support from international agreements

Short-sighted policies and business plans

Incentives favouring relief over anticipatory action

Certain immediate costs, uncertain future benefits

Resilience Dividend as an emerging concept

Understand and incorporate benefits of resilience investment even in absence of a disaster

